Retirees Day 2008

Polytechnic Campus

Polytechnic (East) campus at 7001 East Williams Field Road in Mesa has graciously offered to host the fifteenth annual ASURA Retirees Day this year, which will be held on Saturday, February 16, 2008. Representatives of Polytechnic are very enthusiastic about this event and are providing excellent arrangements in the Cooley Ballrooms in the new Student Union. We hope many ASURA members can attend.

Keynote Speaker

The keynote luncheon speaker will be Dennis Burke, Chief of Staff and Policy Director for the Honorable Governor Janet Napolitano. Mr. Burke is responsible for general administration and development of policy for the Executive Branch and overseas and coordinates a forty-member Cabinet.

In his role, he has a "pulse" on all of the priority issues of state government. Mr. Burke has an extensive background in state and federal government, serving as the Chief Deputy Attorney General of Arizona prior to joining the Governor's Office.

In 1999, he was the Acting Assistant Attorney General for the Office of Legislative Affairs at the United States Department of Justice under Attorney General Janet Reno. As a Senior Policy Analyst with the White House Domestic policy Council from 1995 to 1997, Mr. Burke coordinated the Administration's crime and drug policies. He also served as Majority Counsel United the State for Judiciary Committee for five years.

See the back page for further details on Retirees Day

Corrine Irvan and Friends. On January 9th, a luncheon was held at the Karsten Golf Clubhouse to honor Corrine Irvan and other office volunteers. In November, Corrine ended 16 years of service as our office manager. Past presidents and current Board members were there to thank Corrine and our office volunteers for their dedicated service. They are in the front row of the above photo (l-r): Maxine LaRoux, Pat Skinner, Corrine Irvan, Martha Waltemath, Carol Moore and Helen Seaton. The second row (l-r) are past-presidents: founding president Bob Ellis (1991-92), Denis Kigin (1992-93), Anne Pittman (1993-94), Bob Beeman (1994-95), Don Gieschen (1996-97), Hal White (1998-99) with Lucy White, Zeke Prust (1999-2000), Matt Betz (2001-02), Dave Scheatzle (2004-05), Doug Johnson (2007-08). In the back row, other Board and Committee members: Andrew Hamilton, Bob Mings, Alan Johnson, Peggy Randolph, Dean Smith, Dick Murra, Val Petterson, Joan Leard, Mary Stevens and Sue Blumer.

ASURA's new Business Operations Manager

Carolyn Minner is our new Office Coordinator and Business Operations Manager, replacing Corrine Irvan.

Originally from Indiana, Carolyn came to Arizona in 1989, first settling in Flagstaff to be near her brother, but the winters were too harsh so she relocated to Phoenix in 1991. While in Flagstaff, Carolyn worked at Northern Arizona University. This was her first experience working in a university environment, and soon found it to be an interesting and challenging change in direction. Her position at NAU was that of Administrative Assistant for the Computing Services Department.

Carolyn Minner

Soon after relocating to Phoenix, she found a position with the same title and same department at ASU's West campus. She worked with Connie McNeill for the next 15 years and loved every minute of it, working her way from Administrative Assistant to Business Manager Senior.

Other than one brother and one sister, her family is still in Indiana so she visits as often as she can. She has two sons, and each of them have three "beautiful" children.

Coming from a long line of dog lovers, she has had as many as three at once, but is now down to only one "very sweet, cute Maltepoo" whose name is Peanut.

Activities Committee

The ASURA Activities Committee is moving ahead on activities for our members. Last fall the Retirees Association leadership screened the interest surveys submitted by members and identified eight (8) areas that seem to be of most interest to the membership and then proceeded to organize a group to plan activities for each of these areas. The most popular interest areas included: 1) ASU Athletics; 2) Computing; 3) Hiking; 4) Luncheons; 5) Photography; 6) Theatre and Performing Arts; 7) Travel; and 8) Writing Life Stories / Memories. Most of these groups have been organized and are working on activities that will be offered to the membership.

The groups working on Hiking and Travel have made great progress and will shortly announce activities planned in these areas. Persons interesting in working with any of these groups may contact the following individuals:

ASU Athletics Chair Open Computing Harvey Smith hsmith@math.asu.edu HikingAnna Marie Shives istaxs@mainex1.asu.edu Luncheons Betty Ludlow bettyludlow@msn.com Photography Chair Open Theatre / Performing Arts Chair Open Travel Patricia Moore patricia.moore@asu.edu Scott Norton scott.norton@asu.edu Writing Life Stories / Memories

Evelyn Partridge efpartridge@cox.net

Questions or suggestions about participation in this area or ideas for activities may be directed to either:

Mary Stevens (marystevens@gmail.com) or Val Peterson (val.peterson@cox.net).

You may have noticed that we have put an activities questionnaire in with your membership renewal. This information is put into a data base and gives our administrators an overview of who is interested in what. Popular topics could be the subject of sub-groups who could organize themselves and conduct periodic programs. Photography, golf, quilting, water colors, ASU history, digital editing, travel, luncheon programs to mention just a few. Campus facilities (even in the CSB) may be available for some of these activities. These activities give us an opportunity for continuing education and to socialize with former colleagues. You don't have to be the main leader of an activity, but just be on the committee, or a co-chair. If you haven't yet sent in your "Activities Questionaire," please consider doing so. Or, you can send an email to our President, Doug Johnson, at doug.johnson@asu.edu or any of the Board members you know listed on page 2.

Winery Tour

The travel group of the Activities Committee is planning an interesting and fun overnight trip to the Arizona wineries and more, through Sloan Southwest Tours. The trip is scheduled for Friday April 18 and Saturday April 19. On Friday, stops near Tucson include Mission San Xavier, the arts and crafts village of Tubac, lunch in the village followed by a visit to the unique Santa Cruz Chili and Spice Company, a dinner that evening, and an overnight stay. Saturday morning, the tour continues to the wineries with the first stop at the Sonoita Vineyards, the first winery in Arizona. This stop includes a tour of the winery, the annual Blessing of the Vines, and lunch with wine. Two more stops to the Callaghan Vineyards and the Village of Elgin Winery for more tastings. This winery is located in a historic building with a colorful past. The trip will depart from Elgin about 4:00p.m. and arrive in Tempe at approximately 7:00 p.m. Saturday evening. The all inclusive tour price for transportation by bus, tour guides, two lunches, tastings and dinner is $190.00 per person, double occupancy or $230.00 per person single rate. More information will follow from the Activities Committee. Carol Moore

Travel Humor

A group of Americans were traveling by tour bus through Holland. As they stopped at a cheese farm, a young guide led them through the process of cheese making, explaining that goat's milk was used. She showed the group a lively hillside where many goats were grazing. "These" she explained "are the older goats put out to pasture when they no longer produce."; She then asked, "What do you do in America with your old goats?" A spry old gentleman answered, "They send us on bus tours!" Submitted by Corrine Irvan

E-mail for ASU Retirees Your ASU E-mail Address – Good to Use!

Every ASU retiree is entitled to use certain ASU technology services. Perhaps the most useful of these for most people is your ASU e-mail address and the associated ASU Electronic Post Office (EPO). Here's why:

- The address retains your identity with ASU.
- Once you have notified everyone to use your ASU e-mail address, you won't ever have to do that again, even if you change the company you use for connecting to the Internet (your ISP, or Internet Service Provider) or if you change the e-mail product you use. Your ASU address stays constant, and is permanently yours. You need only change your Destination Address at ASU (see below), and that will take care of everything!
- You will be listed in ASU's on-line directory, so that your current and former ASU colleagues can find you easily.
- There is an automatic spam filter applied to mail sent to your ASU address (but don't expect this to remove all of the spam mail you receive!);
- You can use your ASU address with your existing e-mail service.

To set up and use your ASU e-mail address you need to:

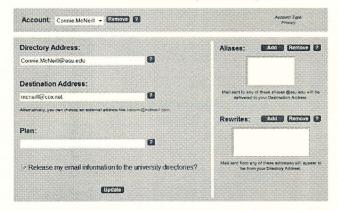

- Have an active e-mail address and access to the Internet.
- Have and be able to use an Internet browser (such as Microsoft's Internet Explorer);
- Have an active ASURITE UserID and password.
 Steps needed to obtain this, if you don't already have it:
 - o Request an ASURITE UserID at http://www.asu.edu/asuriterequest (use your browser to get to this address). After you have responded to questions about whether you are a current or former student or employee, you will be asked to provide your Social Security Number or your ASU ID or your Affiliate ID. If you have a retiree Sun Card, it has your ASU ID and your Affiliate ID printed on the front (ASU ID first). If you don't have a retiree Sun Card, then of course you can supply your Social Security Number.
 - o If the ASURITE request system does not recognize you, you may need to call the HR Benefits Office at 480-965-2701 and ask to have them update your status in the Affiliate database (they'll know what this is even if you don't).
 - If you have problems with obtaining your ASURITE UserID and password, or if you have a UserID but don't remember your password, you can contact the ASU Computer Accounts Office at 480-965-1211 for assistance.

When you have the information in hand, you can do the following:

- Use your browser to navigate to http://www.asu.edu/epoupdate.
- Log in using your ASURITE UserID and password.

• On the Electronic Post Office Update Facility screen, enter your current e-mail address in the box labeled "Destination Address". Your screen will be similar to the following:

Electronic Post Office Update Facility

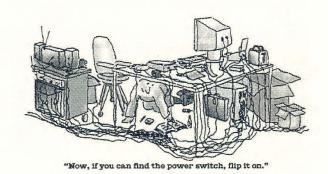

• Click on "Update", and you are finished!

Notes:

- 1. If you have an ASU Outlook/Exchange account in addition to an e-mail account with your private ISP provider, you may continue to get mail from other ASU Outlook/Exchange users that is not forwarded to your Destination Address. This is because Outlook/Exchange is an internal system that does not use the ASU EPO.
- For detailed information on Spam (mass e-mails), see:
 - https://techbase.asu.edu/wiki/index.php/Spam_E
 -mail FAQs and
 - https://techbase.asu.edu/wiki/index.php/Spam_Fi
 <a href="https://techbase.asu.edu/wiki/index.php/spam.edu/wiki/index.php/spam.edu/wiki/index.php/spam.edu/wiki/index.php/spam.edu/wiki/index.php/spam.edu/wiki/index.php/spam.
- 3. For detailed information on ASU's EPO, see https://techbase.asu.edu/wiki/index.php/The_Electronic Post Office %28EPO%29.
- 4. If you do a lot of buying on the Internet, you may not want to use your ASU e-mail address for that. You can use your "real" e-mail address for such things and your ASU e-mail address for correspondence. All of your mail will come to your single mailbox, but you are keeping your personal mail away from ASU and at an address that you can change without affecting your correspondents

April Luncheon

Our 2008 Spring Luncheon will be held on Wednesday, April 30 at 12 noon at the Shalimar Country Club in Tempe.

We are so excited and honored to have Marshall Trimble as our guest speaker. Marshall is a noted historian, teacher and author and has published more than 12 books about Arizona. In 1997 Governor Fife Symington appointed Marshall Trimble as Arizona's Official State Historian.

We are expecting a great turnout for this luncheon. Checks in the amount of $15.50 per person are to be made out to the ASU Foundation should accompany your RSVP to the ASURA office no later than April 15.

The luncheon menu includes Chicken Marsala, Rice Pilaf, Green Beans, Tossed Salad, Cottage Cheese and Fruit Salad. Dessert is Apple Crisp, Coffee or Iced Tea is included.

Video History Project

Six more interviews have recently been conducted bo bring the ASU Retirees Association Living History Video Project to a total of 48 personal perspectives on ASU's history and development.

Living Video History Project Team (I-r): Bob Francis, Manny Garcia, June Payne, Pam Stevenson and Dave Scheatzle

In early December, interviews were conducted for Leonard Gordon (Sociology), Betty Greathouse (Curriculum and Instruction), Bruce Mason (Political Science), Arlene Metha (Counseling Psychology), Wilma Schwada (former ASU first lady), and Linda Van Scoy (Provost's Office).

"We are anxious to covert these interviews to DVDs in the near future so that they can be available to the ASU Community and the public," said Bob Francis, chair of the ASU Living History Project. It is anticipated that DVDs will be available for "check-out" by members of viewing at the ASU Retirees Association office in the ASU Community Services Building (Mill Ave. and Curry Road), on the ASU Retirees web site and eventually located permanently at the ASU Libraries Archives.

"Nominations for retired faculty and staff as candidates for consideration for inclusion in the Living History Video Project are always welcomed. We hope to have another series of interviews sometime in late Spring or early Summer," said Francis. Nominations can be mailed to ASU Living History Video Project, ASU Retirees Association, PO Box 873308, Tempe, AZ 85287-3308, or messages can be left on the Association's office telephone, 480-965-7668

Adopt-a-Family

The ASU Retirees Association is still very active in the Adopt-A-Family Program.

We have adopted a working mother who attends South Mountain Community College's nursing program and wholly supports five children who attend Tempe Schools.

We have also adopted an ASU student (and her two children) majoring in special education and working in the Adult Re-entry Department.

Our adoption program has provided them with food for their Thanksgiving and December holidays. It also gave each person clothing and toys in December and will answer their needs at Valentine's Day once in the Spring.

Wonderful thank you letters, some with drawings, have been received from each member of these families. They let us know how much they appreciate our help, especially at holiday times. One mother wrote, "although it has been years since Santa provided gifts in our household, my children truly appreciate Christmas now more that ever thanks to your generosity. One boy wrote, "this may be weird but I even like the towels. They are blue and not girly. My mom has all these old towels decorated with fish from the bathroom when we were younger and I am really sick of fish."

Your contributions for this program may be sent to the ASU Retirees Association, PO Box 872512, Tempe, AZ 85287-2512. The check should be to: ASU Foundation (ASURA), with a note for "Adopt-A-Family." Joan Leard, Chair of Adopt-A-Family

The Great "Flight from Earth" Hoax

The late Jimmy Creasman, who led the Alumni Association for many decades, loved to tell the story of an ingeniously contrived practical joke which has gone down in ASU lore as the "Flight from Earth" hoax. It was in 1950, he remembers, that he and fellow conspirators Gilbert Cady, Donn (cq) Kinzle, and President Grady Gammage (yes, presidents occasionally made time for a bit of tomfoolery in those long ago days) carried out the caper.

It was at that time that librarian Harold Batchelor and several Valley art lovers were starting to build the college's first art collection, to be housed in Matthews Library.

They had obtained several valuable paintings, including one by famed Washington portraitist Gilbert Stuart, but they needed some modern art to complement them. So Creasman and his team decided to fill that need with an outrageous fake. First, they enlisted Marlow Keith of the Technology faculty, who brought forth a welding exercise – a metal tube some two feet high, on which students had welded appendages of various shapes. Keith burnished each tree-like branch to glistening glory, mounted the object onto a polished oak base, and affixed a name plate reading "Flight from Earth, by Lo Keith."

Then the crew sent Batchelor a letter, supposedly from The National Museum of Modern Art in New York City, commending him on his interest in art and adding that a piece from the museum's collection was on the way to Tempe as a contribution. Then they boxed Keith's "sculpture" and had it delivered to Matthews Library.

Batchelor was delighted with the piece and, much to the delight of Creasman's crew, he set it up in a place of special honor in his collection. Not long thereafter, Walter Bimson, president of the Board of Regents and an eminent art collector and expert, came to the campus and told President Gammage he wanted to see how the new collection was progressing. Dr. Gammage was understandably shaken, and called Creasman, saying "Joke's over! Get that thing out of sight before Bimson gets there!" Creasman rushed to relay Gammage's instructions to Batchelor, but the librarian was reluctant to hide his prize acquisition. At that moment, both Bimson and Gammage arrived on the scene, and the president tried to apologize and to explain how "Flight from Earth" got there.

But, as it turned out, Bachelor was not alone in praising Keith's art work.

"I think it's pretty good!" Bimson declared.

There is an interesting post script to this story. Batchelor, with some embarrassment, hid "Flight from Earth" and it disappeared for two decades, until he had retired to his home at Payson. I was visiting him there one day when I strolled out to his back yard garden. There, in all its glory, mounted on a decorative base, was "Flight from Earth," a fitting monument to Batchelor's ability to take with good humor a joke on himself.

MANY "AS" CHANGES PREDICTED

Dr. Grady Gammage predicts that 1958-59 will see many changes at Arizona State, including expanded enrollment of 10,000, completion of the new stadium, and financial assistance to students and faculty. Continued rapid expansion of the physical plant include new physical and life sciences buildings, additions to men's and women's dormitories, and the conversion of the 10th Street Grammar School into the Payne Training School. Renovation of the present grammar school on Mill Avenue will result in added classroom space and an on-campus auditorium with a capacity of 300 or more persons. Arizona State has been without an auditorium since 1955, when the one in use was condemned.

Gammage expresses hope that "the institution will receive the official designation of Arizona State University as an accurate description of its academic program."

ASRS Survivor-Benefit Process

Until very recently when a member of the Arizona State Retirement System (ASRS) passed away, a period of sixty to ninety days could easily elapse before the member's beneficiary would begin receiving ASRS survivor benefits. Computerization is significantly decreasing the time required for all ASRS operations. In the category of Joint-and-Survivor annuities, the waiting period for survivor benefits is being entirely eliminated by a fundamental change of policy.

In the past, within ten days of receiving notification of a death, the ASRS sent a letter of condolence to the surviving beneficiary stating that in about thirty days he or she would receive a packet of forms to be filled out and returned together with a photocopy of the beneficiary's Social Security card and a certified copy (not a photocopy) of the deceased's death certificate. During the thirty days, the ASRS calculated the benefit due to the beneficiary. After the packet was sent and the survivor responded with the required information, the ASRS issued the first benefit check within two to six weeks. If the packet arrived back at the ASRS in the first half of any given month, the first benefit check could be issued at the end of that month. If the packet arrived in the second half of the month, the process of issuing the benefit check would often delay the first check until the end of the following month.

The ASRS offers two general categories of retirement plans to its retiring members: Life Annuity and Joint-and-Survivor. The survivor-benefit process for Life Annuities will retain generally the same sequence but will be much faster because of computerization. In the case of Joint and Survivor Annuities, the ASRS is now initiating the payment of the survivor benefit immediately upon receiving notification of the member's death. According to Ms. Rita Anne Johnson of the ASRS, "With the new automated system, if the ASRS has the survivor's social security number and can verify the social security number, ASRS will automatically switch the benefit from the deceased retiree to the survivor. (This is for a joint and survivor benefit only.)" The ASRS is likely to have the survivor's Social Security number because it is requested on the form which the member filled out when he or she elected the annuity at the time of retirement.

Ms. Johnson notes also that in the case of deaths late in a month a deceased member's own annuity check often is already being processed and gets mailed out at the beginning of the month following his or her death. This money, she says, must be returned, but "the ASRS will go ahead and set up a Joint and Survivor benefit regardless of any overpayment if we have the survivor's SSN."

Finally, Ms. Johnson says, "Once the new process in is place, the survivor will still be sent a package of information to complete (tax forms, request for death certificate, the return of any overpayments, etc.) within two or three business days of the report of death." Submitting the required information, however, will not be a pre-condition for receiving the first benefit check.

What can the Joint-and-Survivor annuitant and the survivorbeneficiary do to insure a smooth, timely survivor-benefit process? The annuitant can, first, call the ASRS (602-240-2000) to make sure that it has the correct name and Social Security number of the intended survivor-beneficiary. Second, the annuitant should prepare a file, readily accessible to the survivor, containing contact information for the ASRS and other entities which will require notification-for example, the Social Security Administration (1-800-772-1213) and financial institutions in which the annuitant has holdings (e.g., other retirement plans, life insurance, savings, and investments). And, third, just in case there should be some delay in the survivor-benefit process, the annuitant may wish to set aside two or three months' financial support in a bank account or other location that will be readily accessible to the survivor.

If the death of the annuitant occurs at home, it should be reported to the local police. Also, the survivor-beneficiary should immediately notify the ASRS and the Social Security Administration of the death and should select a reliable funeral director. One of the funeral director's ordinary duties is to apply for a death certificate from the county in which the death occurred and to obtain a sufficient number of certified copies (usually about ten), one of which should be sent to the ASRS.

Karl F. Abel, 91, passed away on July 23. He served in the US Army as a company commander in WWII. When he returned from the war he farmed in the West Valley with his brother Norbert under the name Abel Brothers. With Norbert and other partners in the Valley he created a bank, a cotton gin, and a service station, and contributed to the economy of his community in many ways. He served as the President of the Salt River Project from 1972 to 1982. In his retirement he was a prime mover in establishing ASU West and was the founding president of its Provost Club. He is survived by his wife Enid.
